Sermon Discussion

- What do you talk to yourself about the most? How do those conversations go?
- “No one is more influential in your life than you are because no one talks to you as much as you talk to yourself.” Consider verses 5 and 11, where the psalmist is talking back to his troubled soul. What negative patterns of self-talk do you notice in yourself when you’re discouraged or anxious? How can you practically replace those with the truths of God’s character and promises? Reflecting on Psalm 42, how does your internal dialogue align or conflict with the truth of God’s presence and provision? In what specific areas of your life do you need to preach the Gospel to yourself more intentionally?
- Psalm 42:1-2 describes an intense longing for God —“As a deer pants for flowing streams.” Reflect honestly on your own spiritual thirst. When was a time you felt this deep longing for God, and what circumstances triggered it? Conversely, what tends to dull or distract your spiritual appetite?
- In verses 3-4, the psalmist is remembering times of joyful worship during a season of deep sorrow. How does recalling past experiences of God’s faithfulness help sustain your faith when you face discouragement, loneliness, or despair? Can you share a specific memory that has encouraged you in dark times?
- The psalmist expresses hope amidst ongoing struggle, concluding with the confident declaration, “Hope in God; for I shall again praise him, my salvation and my God” (vv. 5, 11). What practical steps can you take this week to move from focusing primarily on your struggles to actively placing your hope in God? How can your community support you in this?
